

Frequently Asked Questions

Does Shapedown BC work?

YES. Studies have shown that when families participate in Shapedown BC, there is improvement in weight, self-esteem, depression, diet and exercise habits. However, progress varies depending on how open and committed the child and family are to change. The Shapedown philosophy is that parents should not ask of their child anything they are not willing to do themselves.

What if both parents can't attend?

Both parents should make every effort to participate. If one parent is more removed from a child, their presence may be even more important. Research has shown repeatedly that a family approach is most effective in order to achieve lifestyle changes. It is only by building on the strength of the family that child obesity programs have their long lasting, beneficial effect on weight. Step-parents, extended family/friends or anyone who has a parenting role, are encouraged to participate.

What happens after group?

After your family has completed the program, you will be encouraged to continue to participate in the on-going weekend family fun fitness sessions at the recreation centre. Additionally, we offer family memberships and family coaching for our graduates. You will receive monthly newsletters to help keep you on track.

Should all kids be thin?

NO. Children come in all sizes and shapes that are perfectly normal. Rapid weight loss or strict diets can affect the growth and development, promote binge eating, slow metabolism and result in weight gain. Shapedown BC is safe. It encourages a gradual, safe weight loss or the maintenance of weight as the child grows. The goal in Shapedown BC is for the child or teen to gradually attain their healthy weight.

Is there a diet?

NO. Diets typically cause children to feel deprived and, as a result, to overeat. Instead, Shapedown BC supports a balanced approach to food intake based on Canada's Food Guide to Healthy Eating. Families learn how to select healthier foods.

What about exercise?

Shapedown BC stresses overall fitness, including endurance, flexibility and strength. Children and parents develop a more active lifestyle and replace television viewing and other inactive pursuits with family and peer activities, sports, projects and other interests.

Shapedown BC

... is a program that helps children, adolescents and their families achieve a healthier lifestyle.

Shapedown BC builds on the strength of the family. It supports families in creating healthy eating and an active lifestyle.

Children and teens improve self-esteem and peer relationships and adopt healthier habits. Parents feel better about their parenting and about their child. The whole family becomes healthier and closer. The results go far beyond weight.

A team of health professionals - a physician, dietitian, mental health professional and an exercise specialist - are involved in the assessment/or the intervention parts of the program. Referral to medical specialists is available as needed.

What will Shapedown BC do for my family?

The power in Shapedown BC comes from its sensitive, entertaining and practical use of family therapy along with exercise, nutrition and behavioural techniques.

Shapedown BC helps families target changes in nutrition and activity. It focuses on the underlying factors that contribute to a child's or teen's unhealthy lifestyle.

Children and Teens – Shapedown BC will help you create a healthier lifestyle. Food becomes less important, activity more exciting and your weight begins to normalize. You will learn to express your feelings and needs, accept more responsibility for diet and activity. You feel safer and happier.
